Module 4. My Space Your Space, Our Space. Summary and Reflection.

You've done an amazing job getting to this point in the course. This module was all about personal boundaries and the differing needs for personal space.

Everyone has different personal space needs. Those needs change depending upon what is going on in your life and that of your partner's.

When you establish the parameters around the daily and important activities of your life, you can prevent misunderstandings between you and your partner. Most people aren't aware of their particular needs for personal space. By making the choice to investigate those needs now, you're far ahead of most couples.

You have a strong foundation for heading off the repercussions of challenges in your relationship. Few couples are prepared for the challenges which they'll face in a long-term relationship. You are not only aware of some of the challenges now, but you also have thoughtfully considered solutions.

Moving Forward

You have one more module before you've completed Keep the Fire Burning.

In the last module of this course, you'll delve into the most physically pleasurable aspects of your relationship, sex and sexuality. As much fun as sex is, it presents its own set of delights and challenges.

Before you move on, however, please take a few minutes to complete the following reflection questions, as they will assist you in integrating everything you've learned in this module.

Self-Reflection Questions

1. Since you began this course, what have you noticed about different people's needs for personal space?
